REID HUNT KENNEDY of Pacifica, apparently mindful of George Washington's historic bout with the cherry tree, has selected a rather overwhelming piece of equipment for a mock re-enactment of that event in connection with Washington's Birthday Saturday. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Kennedy of 1051 Granada Drive.

South San Franciscans were told last week that there is not enough traffic to qualify for a pedestrian overpass on Junipero Serra Boulevard, where two boys have died within two weeks.

State Highway officials promised, however, to aid in engineering and planning for an overpass should the city decide to build one itself.

'LANDS YOU NEVER DREAMED OF'

Exploring Pacifica's Mountains

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of reports by Pacifica Correspondent Lois McNally on a continuing project she calls: "Exploring Pacifica.")

By LOIS McNALLY
SOME OF the most enchanting parts of Pacifica are rarely visited by people who live there.

Several months ago, we took a trip out to sea in the ancient DUKW and saw a new view of Pacifica: the city as it looks fringing a broad blue and white expanse of water.

Seen from offshore, Pacifica is peaceful and lovely, seemingly inhabited only by seagulls and an occasional intrepid fisherman.

Recently, we visited another part of Pacifica—as near and as remote — the brush-covered mountains that border the city on the southeast.

There up on Sweeney ridge and the San Pedro mountain is a vast expanse of open country—inhabited only by deer and visited occasionally by horsemen.

In the two years we have lived in Pacifica, we have been fascinated by these high brown hills that shelter the valleys and homes of Pacificans.

"There are lands up there you've never dreamed of," Pacifica Mayor Harold Feyge enthused one day — and we promptly planned a trip.

OUR GUIDE and driver was John O'Maire, Peninsula division manager of the San Francisco Water District, which is one of the biggest landowners of the area.

On the eastern slopes of our Pacifica mountains are the vast San Francisco watershed lands leading down to Pilarcitos Lake, Crystal Springs and San Andreas reservoirs.

The eastern Pacifica city limits extend along the ridge of the hills and at one point extend some 400 acres down the other side into the San Francisco watershed area.

O'Maire joked about this, "We should make you come over here and give us police and fire protection," he told Mayor Feyge.

OUR TRIP began at the Millbrae headquarters of the San Francisco Water District. In addition to the mayor, Councilmen Harland Minshaw and Rusty Hill, manager of the North Coast County Water District, were members of our party.

Like other Peninsula cities, Pacifica buys its water from the San Francisco Water District. Fifty per cent of San Francisco's Peninsula water supply is now sold to other communities, O'Maire pointed out.

Crossing Skyline Boulevard, we drove up the San Francisco County Jail Road, turning south of it onto a paved road, past the San Bruno city limits, straight up into the hills.

The paved road which leads to an army missile site is maintained by the government. At the top of the ridge we turned south onto an unpaved dirt road and passed through the first of several locked gates.

THE SAN FRANCISCO Water District land is open to hikers and horseback riders but only for those in approved groups and by special permission.

Wintertime, just after several days of heavy rain, is not the time for a scenic tour along Sweeney ridge. In places, the

Lycett Named to D.C. Council

FORMER CHAMBER HEAD

He'll Replace Bob St. Clair

By RON BATES

Bernard (Bud) Lycett, president of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce in 1963, was named Monday night to complete the unexpired term of Councilman Bob St. Clair on the Daly City Council.

St. Clair resigned last week because of a move to Millbrae. His term was due to expire in April of 1966.

Lycett has been a resident of Daly City for the past 25 years. He will be sworn in Monday.

Also considered for the post were Dino Tonelli, a member of the city's personnel board and James Grealish, manager of Westlake Bowl.

All three were considered strongly by the council, which interviewed them individually and then together at a caucus before the special meeting Monday night.

Grealish later was appointed to a personnel board vacancy created when Albert Polonsky was appointed to the council to complete Joseph Verducci's term. Verducci resigned early this year to campaign for a seat on the Board of Supervisors.

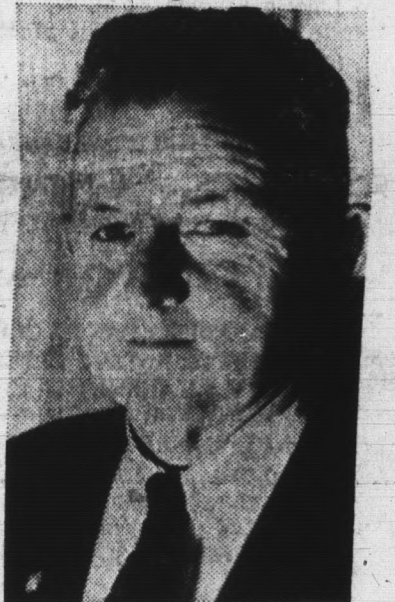

St. Clair was in the audience when Councilman Edward Dennis nominated Lycett for the position. Dennis declared: "We need a capable man to replace Councilman St. Clair."

In a short acceptance speech, Lycett replied: "I've been around this town for 25 years and I've grown to love it. I only hope that I can keep up the work that has been developed by the present council members and the others who left recently."

"It's going to be hard, both physically and ability-wise, to fill the shoes of the man I'm replacing."

Lycett, 48, has operated a realty business at 6767 Mission Street, and has been associated with the W. C. Laswell Funeral Home for several years.

He has been active in civic and fraternal affairs since he moved to Daly City in 1939. He is a member of the Colma-Vista (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

D.C., Pacifica Are Sued in Road Deaths

$400,000 Is Sought by Relatives

The wives and parents of two young men who were killed in a motorcycle accident in Daly City last July 11 filed suit in superior court yesterday for a total of $400,000 damages.

The suits allege that a chain stretched across the old Coast Highway near the entrance to the Daly City dump was a public nuisance. They further charge that the defendants were negligent because they failed to post warning signs and devices at the obstruction.

Candidates File Papers For Election

The North County's April municipal elections began to take form this week as a filing deadline for candidates drew near and a number of aspirants for office were already in the running.

Candidates for council seats in Daly City, Pacifica and South San Francisco have to file nomination papers by noon tomorrow.

In Daly City, three challengers will try to unseat incumbents Francis Pacelli and Albert Polonsky.

They are Thomas Noonan, chairman of the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees; Tony Giamonna, director of athletics at Westmoor High school, and Sheila Bauer of 211 Price Street.

Pacifica has a number of candidates vying for seats held by Mrs. Jean Fassler and George Mason.

Mason will run for re-election (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

IF IT'S ILLEGAL

What Goes Up Comes Down

WHAT GOES up must come down—especially if it is built without the permission of the city.

At least this was the case in connection with a 55-foot radio tower in the backyard of John L. Parris at 666 Skyline Drive.

Parris had to take the tower down after both the Daly City Planning Commission and the City Council denied him a permit to erect the tower for use in a ham radio operation.

Meanwhile, however, the city has approved the erection of a 65-foot radio tower in another neighborhood.

The City Council went along with the Planning Commission's recommendation to allow Golden West Concrete Company to build the 65-foot tower at 45 County Street, enabling it to maintain a communication link with all of the facilities in its construction business.

Blood Bank Day Planned

Daly City's annual Blood Bank Day will be held this year on Friday, March 20, and sponsors are diligently at work at making the program the most successful ever.

The intensive one-day drive for blood donors will be conducted in the multi-use room of Westlake School at 80 Fieldcrest Drive in Daly City.

The campaign is being co-sponsored by the city and by the Daly City Rotary Club. Donations of blood will be sought from members of all of the city's civic and fraternal organizations as well as from individual citizens.

Plans for the drive were discussed last week during a meeting of the Rotary Club in the Friar Room of Serra Bowl.

New Stations Turned Down

By a split four to two vote the Pacifica Planning Commission Monday night recommended that applications for two controversial service stations at the corner of Linda Mar Boulevard and Adobe Drive be turned down.

The two applications must now go to city councilmen for a final decision, however.

The vote was taken at the conclusion of an hour and a half hearing, during which the com-

Brewer Withdraws From Coast Postmaster Field

One of the top contenders for a political appointment as Pacifica postmaster announced last week he was withdrawing from the race, capping a week of bitter inter-party feuding.

The present postmaster, William Wolf, is retiring February 28.

Donald Brewer of 831 Standish Road, announced Saturday that in the interests of party harmony, he was withdrawing in favor of Assistant Postmaster John Simmons.

Brewer said he considered Simmons to be the most qualified person for the post.

The other candidate for the appointment is Kenneth Strom of 867 Standish Road, a neighbor of Brewer's.

Both Strom and Brewer are active in Pacifica Democratic party circles and are members of the San Mateo County Democratic Central Committee.

They have sought the endorsement of the county committee—considered to carry considerable weight with Senator Clair Engle who, in turn, will make a recommendation to President Johnson.

The appointment is made by the President and confirmed by the U.S. Senate. To receive a permanent appointment to the job, the candidate also must finish among the top three candidates in a civil service examination.

Wolf has served as Pacifica postmaster for 11 years. He announced that he is retiring for health and personal reasons.

A resident of the Coastside for 22 years, he was appointed Sharp Park postmaster in 1953 and was named Pacifica postmaster after the city's incorporation that year.

Recently, the Pacifica postal service was expanded with the opening of a new central post (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

A Special Supplement

A special 20-page tabloid supplement of The Post will be distributed to readers throughout the North County Friday morning.

The section will be devoted to a gala Washington's Birthday sale planned Saturday by stores in the Westlake Shopping Center.

The supplement will contain a raft of special sale values as well as two pages of news pictures and stories.

The Westlake Shopping Center will be one of the few retail centers in the North County and San Francisco that will be open Washington's Birthday.

were Mrs. Pauline Finerty, who led the petition drive, and John Siacotos, president of the Winston Manor Homeowners Association. City Councilman Guido Rozzi proposed a city-owned overpass after O'Shea had said the state cannot spend highway taxes for pedestrian facilities. City Manager Eugene Aiello proposed stricter traffic enforcement along Junipero Serra, re-education of the residents and their children to use the safer crossing at Hickey Boulevard about half a mile north. Aiello also suggested as a temporary measure keeping the crossing guard who is there for school children on duty for longer hours and for weekends. It was decided that a man would be kept on duty at the Clay Street crossing on week-ends not to assist children but to aid in counting the pedestrians. State officials will provide electronic equipment to count and record the speed of passing autos.

office in Pacific Manor. There are 25 carriers and a substation in the Linda Mar Shopping Center. Brewer said he was withdrawing his name from consideration even though he has, in writing, the support of a majority of the 25 members of the county Democratic Committee.

Committee chairman Adolph Harrison said last week that although he personally was in favor of Strom, the committee would meet in person tomorrow night to consider endorsement of a candidate.

Brewer said that at this meeting he would attempt to swing his 13 pledged votes to Simmons.

He added that he felt it would be wrong for the party to endorse on a patronage basis either Strom or himself and that such an appointment would cause a rift in party circles and in the city itself.

"I'm trying to avoid a split in the local Democratic party," Brewer claimed. "I firmly believe that a political donnybrook would demean the office we are seeking."

Brewer, who is employed in retail management, is a former president of the Pacifica Democrats and has been a member of the county Democratic Committee since 1958 and its treasurer since 1960. He has lived in Pacifica for 16 years.

NEW HEARING MARCH 10 Apartment Plan Data Is Readied

A controversial plan to build 800 apartments adjacent to Westmoor High School has been withdrawn from Daly City Planning Commission consideration until March 10 by developer Gus Pedemonte.

Pedemonte withdrew the tentative map of Eastmoor Park to prepare more precise information on the apartments and the City Council. The council last week turned back to the commission Pedemonte's request for rezoning of the property from commercial to apartments. The commission previously had approved the request.

Councilman Francis Pacelli had presented a list of six recommendations he said should be incorporated in the apartment plan before it could be approved. The six points covered parking, alleys, traffic control, aesthetics, exact number and sizes of the apartments, and variable front setbacks.

Pedemonte had met with residents of the area before and after the commission's approval to explain the 200-building development. He particularly outlined his plan to erect the buildings on 25 or 50 foot lots rather than the 33-foot lots specified in an annexation agreement for the property. The city has maintained a policy of having a minimum frontage of 33-feet.

but Mrs. Fassler will vie for a seat on the Board of Supervisors. Persons who have returned papers are James Fox of 32 Alcala Court, member of the city's planning commission; Harry Moseley of 8 Duran Court; Lou Lorenz, 650 Heather Court, another member of the planning commission, and Karl Strutz of 344 Olympian Way, a Pacifica realtor.

Mrs. Grace McCarthy of 5 Eastlake Avenue has indicated she will turn in her papers before the deadline. Nomination papers to be returned also had been issued to Lloyd Sitts, Al Rosenberg and Howard Swappe.

In South San Francisco incumbents Guido J. Rozzi, Frank Berticelli and Leo Cortesi have filed for re-election. David O. Baba of 822 Maple Avenue has filed for the position and nomination papers have been issued to James Claar of 71 Circle Court.

FLUTE STOLEN
Westmoor High School officials reported to Daly City police last week that a flute, valued at $92, had been stolen from a cabinet.

A Reporter Tours the Mountains

ruts in the dirt road are deep crevasses. For this adventurous trip into the unknown wilderness, we'd like to report we struggled up the mountain in a jeep — or in at least an ancient and weathered auto.

Alas, however, we traversed Sweeney Ridge in a new Chrysler, radio-equipped and with four-wheel drive. As we gazed out at the pastoral scene, police calls sputtered in our ears.

DRIVING ALONG Sweeney Ridge and south over San Pedro mountain, we saw vistas of endless valleys, slopes and stretches of brush-covered country. At times, the trip seemed endless and we might have been driving through ranchland somewhere in central California.

The views of Pacifica when they came were delightful — a long line of blue and white shore and the tiny valleys with their tiny houses.

Mayor Feyge had all kinds of maps. His favorite was one marked off with little colored squares showing the various landowners. He tried to pick out some of the parcels as we drove along.

The mayor hopes ultimately to see all the western slope of the San Pedro watershed land, some 2,400 acres, annexed to Pacifica.

Recently, after contacting a dozen landowners, he submitted a report to the city council — urging the council to move toward acquiring the land.

THERE ARE PLANS for a scenic highway along Sweeney Ridge to Montara, connecting with a national highway through to Santa Cruz. Sharp Park Road and Fessler Drive in Linda Mar would connect with this scenic highway.

For all of us, this trip seemed only a tantalizing start. Like other explorers in new lands, we're dying to go back.

The next time Grace McCarthy (Pacifica Recreation Commissioner) takes a band of senior Girl Scouts up San Pedro mountain, we're going to tag along.

Sanchez Adobe Plan Rejected

mission was presented with a petition signed by 93 property owners favoring a neighborhood shopping zoning at the intersection. Although the hearing failed to erupt into verbal fireworks as expected, the animosity between Commissioner James Fox and James Teagan, who had applied for a use permit for one of the two stations and who has demanded Fox's dismissal from the commission because of statements he made earlier opposing the applications, was clearly visible.

The San Mateo County Historical Association had written the commission opposing both applications because of the nearness of the intersection to the historic Sanchez Adobe.

The County Planning Commission had also opposed a commercial zoning of the area because "we feel that this would be a fragmented shopping center separated as it is by Adobe Drive and Linda Mar Boulevard. We are also concerned that undesirable traffic congestion would be created at this intersection, as Linda Mar Boulevard is shown as an arterial of county-wide importance on the county-planner's master plan."

County planners also cited the nearness of the area to the Sanchez Adobe and added, "It is our understanding that the County Park and Recreation Department is particularly concerned about this matter."

One service station has already been built near the intersection despite objections from city officials.

Another application of Magrin for a service station at the intersection of Cabrillo Highway and San Pedro Terrace Road was put over for 60 days to give time for the State Division of Highways to purchase the property which will eventually be needed for freeway.

Marchbank Estate Totals $892,053

The estate of the late Bernadette Jones Marchbank of Daly City was valued at $892,053 in an inventory filed last week in Redwood City Superior Court.

Mrs. Marchbank was the private secretary of San Mateo County political leader and race track operator "Squire" John Marchbank before she became his wife in 1947. She died a year ago at the age of 63.

The "Squire" died shortly after the marriage. He was 78.

The widow's estate was broken down in the inventory as $232,317 in cash, $102,602 in bonds, $105,718 in preferred stock, $276,855 in common stock, and $154,330 in real estate.

Funeral services for William Thomas Watson of 32 Flournoy Street, Daly City, were held last week by the W. C. Lasswell Chapel.

Birthday Party

EVERY birthday should have a birthday cake and Washington's Birthday, to be observed by Westlake Shopping Center merchants in a gala one-day sale Saturday, won't be any exception. At work painting a huge birthday cake to be used in the one-day sale are Robert Morford, left, president of the Westlake Merchants' Association and owner of the Westlake Music Center, and Don Davis, Penney's manager, who is head of the association's advertising committee. The birthday sale will feature 10,000 servings of cherry cake and coffee that will be free to shoppers. The pastry will be served from an area inside the giant birthday cake.

DEATHS

LAWRENCE MARTINES

Lawrence Martines, 65, 34 Rockwood Drive, South San Francisco, a custodian for the Hillsborough schools system died Wednesday at St. Luke's Hospital, San Francisco, after a short illness. He was a native of Calaveras County and had lived in this area for seven years.

He formerly worked as a butcher, and was a member of Butchers' Union Local 508, San Mateo.

Survivors include his wife, Gladys; two sons, Frank, South San Francisco, and Eddie, Stockton; two brothers, Julius, Stockton, and Alfred, Redwood City; three sisters, Mrs. Tillie Rodriguez, Oakland, Mrs. Cora Estrada and Mrs. Flora Sinacore, Stockton; and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Friday at 3:30 p.m. from Larson Garden Chapel, with interment in Olivet Memorial Park, Colma.

GENEVA J. LILLARD

Rites for Mrs. Geneva J. Lillard, 59, were conducted Friday by Nauman-Lincoln Chapel, South San Francisco. Burial was in Olivet Memorial Park, Colma.

Mrs. Lillard was employed as a housekeeper in San Mateo County and lived with her laughter, Mrs. Patricia Martin, 1288 Morningside, South San Francisco.

Born in Leon, Iowa, she is survived by her daughter; a son, Thomas Lillard of Duluth, Minn.; a stepson, Stanley Lillard of Phoenix; three brothers, Lester Stewart of Yakima, Wash., Lyman Stewart of Kansas, and Lowell Stewart of New Jersey; two sisters, Mrs. Edith Rosengrant of Missouri, and Mrs. Harriette Blackwood of Kansas, and seven grandchildren.

FRIDA SASSMANN

Mrs. Frida Sassmann, a resident of South San Francisco for 55 years, died last week at her home at 726 Grand Avenue. She was 74 and a native of Leipzig, Germany.

She had retired as an employee of the South San Francisco School District.

Survivors include two sons, Charles Jr., and Ralph, both of South San Francisco; a daughter, Mrs. Louise Clark, Wisconsin; nine grandchildren, and a great-grandchild. Funeral services were held from Nauman and Lincoln Chapel.

MAUDE ALVISO

Maude Alvise of 462 Winchester Street in Daly City died last week in San Francisco at the age of 72.

She was a lifetime resident of California.

She is survived by her daughters, Mrs. Dorothea A. Brush,

Child Falls Thru Skylight

An eight-year-old Daly City girl escaped serious injury Sunday afternoon when she fell 20 feet through the skylight of an automobile company's roof.

The girl, Janine Mignault of 58 Garwood Drive, suffered numerous cuts and bruises. However, X-rays taken at French Hospital in San Francisco showed she had not broken any bones.

Police said the girl had been playing on the roof of the Foreign Car Center at 6601 Mission Street. The roof is level with a vacant lot behind the building.

A playmate, unable to find Janine, had discovered that the skylight had been broken. She looked through, saw Janine lying on the floor below and summoned police.

Mrs. Marcella D. Rowan and Mrs. Barbara J. Brush; three sisters, Mrs. Lillian Simon, Mrs. Irene O'Malley and Mrs. Myrtle Hardesty.

Funeral services were conducted by the W. C. Lasswell Chapel in Daly City. Interment was in Golden Gate National Cemetery.

DANIEL F. JOHNSON

Funeral services for Daniel F. Johnson of 442 A Street, Colma, were held last week by the W. C. Lasswell Chapel in Daly City.

He was 79.

A native of California, he lived in the Daly City-Colma area for 27 years.

Survivors include his daughter, Mrs. Isabel McCowan, and WE'VE GOOFED! In the past we've made an annual habit of devoting at least one column to extolling amateur wrestling.

Wrestling, as you may know, is perhaps recorded history's oldest known sport. It ante-dates the days of ancient Greece and Rome, going back to the time when cavemen practiced the art on each other—in lieu of animals they could be grappling with in order to land a meal or protect their families.

Reason why we goofed is that we'd been planning to write this piece to coincide with the high school wrestling season, suggesting that you get out to watch this fascinating sport.

But we've suddenly looked up to find that the wrestling season, as of this writing, is, save for perhaps a few scattered tournaments, all over.

Some of you, no doubt having at least a passing acquaintance with television's "professional" wrestling, are probably surprised to learn that wrestling does have a season, as such, and is not a year-round sport as television exploiter of the manly art would have you believe.

HAVING NOW established the fact that we have no compunction about writing out-of-season sports, allow us to call your attention to the further fact that we've differentiated between amateur wrestling and "television" or "professional" wrestling. Also note the deftness with which we make use of the quotation mark. That is very important.

The difference between amateur and professional wrestling, you see, is the same difference as that between lightning and the lightning bug, if we may paraphrase Mark Twain.

Those fat, nimble fakers you watch exploiting the sport on television are "rasslin'," not wrestling—and "rasslin'" is a sport in itself.

Never for a moment, however, get the idea that those big blobs aren't top athletes—finely conditioned—or that they couldn't hold a card in Actors Equity if they applied themselves.

A person must be a good athlete and in excellent physical condition to go flying around a little canvas enclosure four or five nights a week—which is how often many rasslers go—and any actor will tell you that it's awfully hard to fool those highly personal television cameras.

Yet those big blobs convince a lot of people they're not immortal, even though the state now makes them admit they're only exhibitioners.

And then, of course, there are always accidents, and the fatties do at times get wounded. Rasslin' is by no means a soft occupation.

BUT WE'D still bet that any top lightweight amateur wrestler could easily lick whatever heavyweight professional champ a promoter could dig up with courage enough to take on an amateur at the real game of wrestling.

If you've never seen high school, college or club amateurs wrestle before, don't be shocked when you view your first match.

You may hear grunts and groans, but you won't see any unidentified flying humans circling the ring as results of flying mares or dropkicks; nor will you see any elbow smashes or eye gouges, for that matter. That kind of tuff, REALLY applied, would be too messy even for the pros.

Amateur wrestlers are very neat and orderly people and often are quite skinny. They wrestle in weight classes, much the same as boxers, and, as in boxing, strength and weight aren't necessarily success factors, although conditioning and durability are always important.

JUST AS in boxing, decisions in amateur wrestling can be won on points. Just as in boxing you don't have to knock an opponent out to win, in wrestling you don't have to pin your man to win. It isn't a fight to the finish—as TV would have you believe. Decisions can be won because points are given for defensive and offensive maneuvers. Consequently, as much time is spent in amateur wrestling in trying to look smooth, clever, cunning (and in general, impressive) in breaking a hold as in getting the hold in the first place.

The good amateur wrestler will play an opponent's weight against himself, and many simon pures would rather wrestle a heavier opponent in order to provide themselves with more leverage.

Some really good amateurs claim they can beat judo experts because judo engenders purely a defensive system whereas wrestlers learn both offense and defense, and wouldn't "go" to the judo man, but wait for him. Which, logically speaking, would make a judo expert pretty helpless, since he isn't basically taught to attack.

What good is a fine counter puncher in boxing, after all, if his opponent refuses to lead?

WRESTLING, as you can by now imagine, is complicated, perhaps even scientific. A good but not outstanding amateur wrestler, for instance, may know as many as six or eight different ways to take a man down. But some experts know as many as 95 methods. This doesn't count the number of holds involved—or the number of ways to break the holds.

Perhaps the main attribute in amateur wrestling is quickness. With this, good conditioning and the study and application of the various methods of take-downs, holds, counter-holds and escapes, a wrestler can throw size, strength, and strangle-holds out the window—and may even be able to handle his wife.

WHILE WE'RE on off-season sports, we wonder if Westmoor football coach Pete Matisi is pining away over future lost meals now that Terra Nova's Floyd Gonella has gone the way of all old physical education men—into administration. Seems that Floyd and Pete, one-time members of the same staff (Floyd was an assistant coach under Pete at Westmoor at one time), had a standing bet of a free meal for the victorious coach in all Tiger-Ram games and Terra Nova NEVER DID beat Westmoor.

Jeff Matmen Down Mills

Jefferson High School's wrestlers defeated Mills High School in a non-league match, 32-15. Here are the summaries:

95-Guilio (J) pinned Johnson (M); 100-Martin (J) d. Cooper (M) 3-0; 112-

Garcia (M) d. Lindsey (J) 6-1; 120-Jones (J) pinned Howell (M); 127-Valdez (M) d. McRae (J) 3-0; 132-Bettner (J) d. Lunn (M) 3-0; 138-Marcovecchio (J) pinned Davis (M); 145-Morgan (J) d. Bloom (M) 3-0; 150-Morgan (J) d. Shellen (J) 3-0; 155-Garcia (M) d. Wallace (J) 3-0; 175-Morgan (M) d. Benfield (J) 3-0; 191-Jeff won on forfeit.

S.S.F. Upsets Jeff; Rams Win

Warriors Grab Victory On Last-Second Basket

There is a time for work, a time for play—and a time for winning a basketball game.

The South San Francisco Warriors managed to squeeze all three of these activities into their allotted 32 minutes Friday afternoon at the Warrior gym—though the final, and most important element, almost slipped beyond their grasp.

But Warrior Guard Ron Bennett gave the hometown fans a last-second Valentine's Day present as he threw in a 20-foot set shot right at the final buzzer to give the SSF crew a 51-49 upset victory over Jefferson.

The dramatic victory for the Warriors, who have had their ups-and-downs this season—with the emphasis on the latter—again plunged the North Peninsula League outcome into a pot full of question marks.

It was the blue and white's third NPL win in six outings. Ironically, all of these wins have come at the expense of title contenders.

The South City quint previously knocked off first place Westmoor and second place El Camino. Their losses, strangely enough, have been to lowly Oceana and cellar-dweller Terra Nova.

"They played a lot steadier than they have in the past," a beaming Warrior Coach Joe Schroeder said following the game.

"We are not out of it yet. I said at the start of the season that a 7-3 record will win this league and I still believe it," he added.

It was a bit of Jeff strategy that backfired that set up the Warrior win.

South SF's fine sophomore guard, Greg Jones, had tied the score at 49-49 on a driving rebound.

The Indians came back and were told to wait for one last shot. However, it came a little premature and the hosts found themselves with the ball with four seconds left.

Jones quickly passed to Bennett and the dark-haired youth let fly with the clincher, with pandemonium breaking out as the ball hit the cords and the buzzer rang out.

Both teams displayed hands-up zone defense which forced the shooting from the outside. Jeff's Bill Jones, the finest outside shooter in the NPL, kept the Indians in command most of the way with his set shots. The Warriors countered with the jump-shooting of Larry Cervelli and Greg Jones.

The hosts went ahead briefly, 30-28 in the second period, but Jeff tied it up at 30-30 at the half-time buzzer.

Ed Larios put the Jeff in front once again with 3:45 left in the third period—and they held the lead until the final minute of play.

Both of the Jones boys topped the scoring for their respective teams. SSF's Greg pocketed 19 while Jeff's Bill accounted for 17 points.

In the class B contest, the Jeff lights ran their record to 5-1 as they dumped the junior Warriors, 43-38.

Gazzano Is Winner at Silverado

Lou Gazzano, assistant manager of the Westlake branch of the Bank of America, fired a one under par 71 to take top honors in the Ninth Annual Divotter Open at the Silverado Golf and Country Club Lincoln's Birthday.

The annual event drew 133 golfers, most of them Daly City businessmen and residents. Matching the club's general manager and professional, Pat Markovich, was Frank Barrow with a par 72. Other top scorers were Wayne Guisti, 73; Peter Markovich, 75; Al Guisti, 76; Jack Lucetti, 76; Joe Sarto Jr. 78, and John Geiger, 78.

A four-way tie in the Class A tournament resulted with Edward Farrell, Gerald Mincher, Bob Lomimori and Don Eagen each scoring 72.

Class B was won by Arnold Panella with a 73. Following him was Ralph Hall, Rick Drier, H. E. Dollar, and M. B. Wilcox. Class C was won by Jerry Linde and S. J. Smerthwait with 74s. They were followed by Bill Adams, John McInnis and Al Plansky.

Also attending the tourney were Judges Frank Blum and Charles Becker, Daly City Mayor Michael DeBernardi, Councilmen Edward Dennis and Albert Polonsky, City Manager Edward Frank, City Attorney Paul Hupf, and the superintendent of the Jefferson High School District, Edward Morgan.

MPL Leaders Turn Back Scrappy Tigers, 60-56

The Westmoor Rams still held undisputed possession of first place in the North Peninsula Basketball League early this week—but barely.

The Rams struggled through a seesaw contest Friday afternoon before escaping from the Terra Nova Tigers with a hard-earned 60-56 victory.

It was touch and go all the way as the score changed hands 22 times. Not until the final 'w'o minutes was the game close to being decided.

Board control by the Rams and the shooting of Jim Mason and Larry Siegal kept Westmoor hanging onto the Tigers' tails.

Mason hit for 10 and Siegal pushed through eight in the first half to keep pace with the visitors, who scored consistently from the outside.

The Rams held a 16-14 advantage at the quarter mark when Siegal hit a 20-foot jumper with six seconds remaining.

The Tigers roared back in the second session. Led by Marty Coll's eight points, they knotted the score at 33-33.

A cold day at the free throw line prevented Terra Nova from moving ahead early in the third quarter as the club missed six tries. But Coll's jump shot with 10 seconds left moved the Tigers ahead, 45-44.

Mike Morrison got the lead back for Westmoor as the final quarter opened, putting the Rams ahead to stay. They held an eight-point lead with two minutes remaining.

Serra Bowl

The week's box scores for the top shooters in our leagues are as follows: In the Morning Glories, it was Marge Somdahl with 188-488; the Friarettes had Laura Olcese with 195-481. Donna Woods in the Femme Fatales came up with 188-466, the Coffee Clatch produced a 188 by Joyce Mooney and series was taken by Velma Oswald. Bernice Fiorelli had 183, and Roberta Lightfoot had 473, for the Rockettes. The Bowling Bags once again had Roberta Lahtinen with 167-440 and also Pat Sack with 440. Betty Fontana in the Domestic Engineers stole high honors with 185-492.

The Serra Starters' Judy Mohr had high game with 179 and Nancy Romeo had high series of 452. Irene Manthey in the Budget Busters came up with 167 and Bette Weissman had high series with 450.

AROUND THE BASES in the night leagues and we come up with Mike Keyte in the Mets with 218-538 and in the 813 Scratch it was our own Jim Moyle's 221-612. Hal McIrvin in the Gringos was high with 218-558, and the Majorettes' Pam Hill had a fine 200 game.

The Boozers (in name only) had Bob Greeno with a terrific 240-623. In the Sportsmen, it was Frank Machi, 215-530, and the Twilighters' Roy Krieger came up with 239-602. Bob Ehlers in the Lutherans shot 217 and Karl Adams took series with 586.

Dick Kondo's 221-578 led the 1st Missile group and the 835 Scratch came up with Bill Nassano's 226-601, Bob Raeta's 233-631 and Clarence Fleming's 213-607.

Carl Gent, a 164 average bowler shot very fine in the Thursday night Bankers league with high game of 235 and a 627 series. The Sharpshooters had Otis Smith, 214-570, Jerry Gladwin in the Astronauts had 233-606, Bob Elkins with 216-546 led the Gigolos.

In the Foresters League, it was Paul Barkley with 233-577. Saturday in our Aviators League, Ronnie Mack, son of our professional Billy Mack, shot a perfect Dutch 200 game. Not bad for a 112 average bowler.

Westlake Bowl

LUELLA BROWN tied one record and set another in the Ladies' 810 Classic last week as she rolled a terrific 256 game and 611 series. The series total tied the previous league high of Sandy Howard while the 256 established a new high game record.

Three girls in the Starliners League topped the 500 mark as Pat Pawson led the way with 199 and 552. Other high rollers were Anne Ikler with 520 and Alice Dodd with 514.

Tom Smith showed the form that won him a 1964 MG in the recent Christmas Tournament as he topped the Blue Monday Scratch League with a 234 game and 571 series.

In the Southgate Mixed Fives League, Terry La Flamme led the ladies with 179-496 while Ed Johnson was the leading man with 212 and 586.

The fourth annual Westlake Handicap Doubles started Monday and will run until March 29. With over $2500 in guaranteed prizes, the entries are expected to far surpass those of previous years. Open to both men and women, the doubles tournament again has the optional singles feature.

Ron McLain started on the comeback trail as he led the Sleepers League with a big 233 game and 637 series.

Neva Runningwolf and John Brown set a fast pace in the 99ers Mixed Fives as Neva rolled a 232 game and 580 series and John shot 216 and 630.

Walt Yazolino led the "bombers" of the 920 All-Stars as he posted a 234 game and 639 series, followed by Fred Thompson with 223-631 and Ernie Lazzari with 245 and 607.

IRWIN PENN'S 221 game and 622 series were high in the Westlake Knolls League.

The Parkside League team currently leads the Westlake elimination in the BPAA Team Handicap Tournament with a 3109 total. With over 100 teams competing to date, a minimum of 20 will qualify for the sectional rolloff.

AL Ertassi and Leila Syring led the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives for the week. Al rolling 210-567 and Leila posting a 169 game and 493 series.

Sanco bowler of the week was Jep Jepson as he registered a 215 game and 613 series.

Once again, Walter Walter led the B'nai B'rith League, this time with 214 and 546.

Secretary Harry Korts set the pace in the Winter Fives with a 204 game and 556 series as Yvonne Becksted played the part of leading lady as she rolled a big 221 game and 498 series.

A great 248 game and 591 series gave Ralph Schilling top honors in the 839 Classic League for the week. Jerry Schreier bowled a 206 game and 586 series to lead the 815 Scratch League while Roy Swanson shot one pin higher as he topped the Country Club Handicap with 201 and 587.

Sea Bowl

THE SAN FRANCISCO Women's Bowling Association Team events were a tremendous success for the Sea Bowl girls in the Boosters' division. Top team honors went to The Last Round Up girls that bowled in the last squad Sunday evening. They ended up with a handicapped 2078. Merchants 620: Art Marchington had 211-578, Larry Matheus 234-553 and Jack France 182-553. Alleyholics: Maxine Hill 190-489 and Marge Sloane 181-485.

Basketball En Route

RAM TERRY DONOVAN (51) moves in to cover Tiger Marty Coil as he takes a pass near the basket. Coil hit for 18 points in the Terra Nova-Ram game, but it wasn't enough as the Rams downed the Tigers 60-56 at the Daly City gym.

HOLDS 2ND PLACE

El Camino Nips Oceana, 49-45

Four victories and a lot of help are the things most needed by the El Camino High School Colts as the North Peninsula League basketball race heads into the stretch.

The Colts are now in sole possession of second place in the NPL standings after Friday night's close 49-45 victory over Oceana.

El Camino broke out in front to a nine-point edge over fast-improving Oceana and survived a 17-point rally in the fourth quarter to remain as the most formidable challenger to the league-leading Westmoor Rams.

They were scheduled to meet arch cross-town rival South San Francisco yesterday afternoon. Larry Kinkade, Bill Wittman and Bill Wiprecht sparked Oceana's fourth-period rally that saw the Coastsiders pull to within six points of their visitors with only 58 seconds left to play.

Wittman came up with a bucket and Dave Westphal scored four others during those final seconds. But El Camino's

2 Westmoor Matmen Gain Nor-Cal Meet

Westmoor's Flin Reade and Dan Hartman were the only two North Peninsula League wrestlers who played in the North Coast Sectional Wrestling Meet at Palo Alto Saturday.

Reade's third place in the 154-pound division and Hartman's fourth in the unlimited division qualified them to compete in the Northern California championship at College of San Mateo Saturday.

The duo had to wrestle five men to earn their berths.

On the basis of their performance, Westmoor notched 17 points to rank among the top ten of 68 schools competing.

Andy Foley earned two points for Jefferson.

Bulldogs Bow in Double Overtime

It took one fantastic bit of doing, but San Jose City College sat in the driver's seat of the Golden Gate Conference basketball race this week.

Displaying a fast-moving offense and a full court pressing defense, the Jaguars came through when the chips were down Friday night to edge College of San Mateo, 93-91, in double overtime before a jam-packed house at the College Heights gym.

By winning this one the Jags moved into a second-place tie with CSM at 8-2, while CCSF, which won over Oakland, 59-54, was alone at the top with a 9-1 mark.

San Jose, however, has a game left with the league leaders on their own court and defeated them earlier this year in San Francisco.

A win by the Jaguars in the rematch should assure them of at least a tie for the conference title with the pro-winner of the CSM-CCSF game, which concludes the season for both teams.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

EVERYONE knows that February 22 is George Washington's birthday. But how many of you know that February 21 is the day the sewing machine was patented in 1842? You didn't know that famous event occurred on that day? Well, now, never let it be said that Sugar and Spice is JUST a recipe column—we inform on other matters too!

I really can't think of a recipe that in any way ties in with the invention of the sewing machine, but I do have a cake recipe that dates back to the time of Washington.

The Lady Baltimore cake has been called the Queen of Cakes! And it is a well-deserved title. The cake is delicate and light and the filling rich with fruit and nuts. It's topped by a delicate pink frosting decorated with fruit.

LADY BALTIMORE CAKE

- 2½ cups sifted cake flour
- ¾ teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- One and one-third cups sugar
- ½ cup shortening
- 1 cup milk
- 1½ teaspoon vanilla
- 4 egg whites
- One-third cup sugar

In a small mixing bowl, beat the egg whites until foamy. Add the one-third cup sugar gradually, beating only until meringue will hold up in soft peaks.

Sift dry ingredients together and add to shortening in a large mixing bowl. Combine milk and vanilla and add ¾ of the milk mixture to the flour and shortening. Beat for two minutes in a mixer at low speed. Add meringue mixture and remaining milk. Beat for one minute. (Count only actual beating time. Scrape bowl and spoon or beater often.)

Turn batter into pans that have been lightly greased and floured. Use two round, nine-inch layer pans, 1½ inches deep. Bake in 350-degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes or until done. Cool cake in pans on cake racks for five minutes. Then, loosen from sides with spatula. Turn out and turn right-side up on racks to cool thoroughly before frosting.

LADY BALTIMORE FROSTING

- 2 egg whites
- ½ cup sugar
- 4 Tablespoons light corn syrup
- ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 Drops red coloring.

Combine egg whites, sugar, corn syrup, salt and cream of tartar. Place in top of double boiler over rapidly boiling water and beat with rotary beater until mixture stands in peaks. Remove from boiling water. Add vanilla and red food coloring; beat until thick enough to spread.

Chop these fruits and nuts, reserving two tablespoons of chopped fruit for decorating:

- ½ cup candied cherries
- One-third cup figs
- One-third cup raisins
- ¼ cup pecans

Combine fruit with one-fourth cup of frosting and use for filling between the layers of the cake. Frost top and sides of cooled cake with balance of frosting. Decorate with the two tablespoons of chopped fruit.

DOESN'T THAT sound like the richest cake ever? Those were rich days and the Colonial dames thought nothing of tossing 10 eggs and a pound of butter into a cake. Since none of us have a chicken house in the backyard and a herd of cows to provide for our needs, we'll just have to "make-do" with this simpler recipe.

Geraldine Caldarola Weds Raymond Raffo

Geraldine Caldarola and Gerald Raymond Raffo were married before the altar of Our Lady of Mercy Church in Daly City.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Caldarola of 7080 Mission Street, Daly City. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Raffo of Burlingame.

The Olympic Club at Lakeside was the reception setting. The couple is living in San Francisco.

The Rev. Leonard Callegari, a friend of the bride's, bestowed a Papal blessing on the couple.

The bride wore a traditional gown of peau de soie styled with a tightly fitted bodice and a bell shaped skirt with a full chapel train.

A Dior rose secured the full fingertip veil. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids.

Mrs. Jeffrey Stahl was matron of honor. She shared duties with Francesca Guheen, Carole Sankey, Margaret Grennan and Margo Heim.

They all wore green floor length satin dresses with matching accessories, and carried semi-cascade bouquets of white Fuji chrysanthemums and magnolia leaves.

Michelle Modena was flower girl.

Peter R. Raffo was his brother's best man. Thomas J. Caldarola II, the bride's brother, shared ushering duties with Ronald Thibault, Dennis Shea, Joseph Buzzo.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. Caldarola of New Jersey, the bride's grandparents.

Mrs. Caldarola chose a plum colored Italian silk sheath with matching accessories for her daughter's ceremony.

Mrs. Raffo wore a moss green lightweight wool sheath with matching jacket.

Mrs. Marvin Cohen is chairman of the luncheon.

H. Liebes of Westlake will furnish the fashions which will be modeled by women from the B'nai B'rith chapters in the San Francisco area.

Mrs. Maurice Lifschutz, district president, will be the guest speaker.

Assisting Mrs. Cohen with luncheon arrangements will be Mrs. Morris King. Mrs. Robert Stein will be in charge of reservations. Mrs. William Giltz, prizes, and Mrs. Roy Koss models. Marian Gille will be the pianist.

Proceeds of the luncheon will go toward aiding veterans' hospitals. B'nai B'rith youth activities, the Anti-Defamation League and USO activities.

Mrs. Steinberg

Given Honorary

Membership

Mrs. Norman Steinberg was the recipient of an honorary life membership at the Thomas Edison P-TA Founder's Day program last week.

The award was given in special recognition of outstanding service to youth of the community.

Dr. Julio Bortolazzo, president of the College of San Mateo was the guest speaker at the meeting. He spoke on the "College Crisis" and some of the recommendations being considered.

The meeting celebrated the fourth birthday of the Thomas Edison P-TA and the 67th of the National P-TA movement. Mrs. Galvin Matthews, Founders Day chairman, presented colored slides on some of the work being done by the 17th District of P-TA, including workers in the Braille Library and work done for our children.

Mrs. Gotelli

Is Honored by

Member Award

Mrs. Norman Gotelli, president of the M. Pauline Brown P-TA, last week received a life membership award from the Founders Day program.

She was chosen for the award by a five-member committee headed by Mrs. George Redden. Other members of the committee were Mrs. Robert Herring, Mrs. Gladys Huber, Mrs. Richard Kamprath and Donald Pagan.

Mrs. Gotelli, in addition to her P-TA role, is a Brownie leader and has been affiliated with the Girl Scout movement for three years.

She has performed volunteer work for a number of charitable organizations including the Heart Association, the Cancer Society and the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. Caldarola of New Jersey, the bride's grandparents.

Mrs. Caldarola chose a plum colored Italian silk sheath with matching accessories for her daughter's ceremony.

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

A PLEA for every club in South San Francisco to send a representative to the next meeting of the South San Francisco Inter-Club Council was issued this week by Christine Enberg, publicity director of the Political Action Club of South San Francisco high school.

According to Miss Enberg, it is hoped the newly organized Inter-Club Council eventually will consist of representatives of all fraternal, service and social clubs in the area. Purpose of the association is to combat apathy and promote civic participation. It is also felt that such a group would do much to improve understanding, communication and co-operation between the participating clubs.

R. T. Lamberton president of the Winston Manor Home Owners' Association, was elected temporary chairman of the Council at a recent meeting hosted by the members of the Political Action Club. Charleen Smith, faculty member and advisor to the high school group was elected temporary secretary-treasurer.

The club is still accepting memberships from all clubs in South San Francisco, including ethnic and religious groups. Miss Enberg indicated that to be really effective the clubs' organizers feel all groups must take part in the program.

The third meeting is scheduled for March 4 at 8 p.m. in the conference room of the Bay View Federal Savings and Loan building in South San Francisco. Clubs who have not yet sent a representative and clubs which have as yet not received an invitation to participate are especially urged to attend this meeting, Miss Enberg said. More information concerning the meeting and the Council may be obtained by calling Miss Enberg at 589-4065.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE LISCOM were the recent house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wagner of Westlake.

Liscom, Mrs. Wagner's brother, and his wife were visiting here from Arcata, California.

THE ANNUAL retreat of the Catholic Daughters of America will be held at Vallombrosa, in Menlo Park on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, according to Mrs. Ethel C. Brincard, Archdiocese Public relations chairman.

Mrs. Eleanore Zipp, Archdiocese Chairman of Share The Faith, C.D.A., is in charge of the retreat. The Rev. Eugene J. Boyle will be the Retreat Master.

SPECIAL WORDS of praise for the efforts of Mrs. Jessie West are being offered by the members of the P-TA Council of the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Mrs. West, the current chairman of the council, has long been interested in providing cultural advantages for the youngsters of the area, and this year in her official capacity as chairman, she has had much of the responsibility for the presentation of Puss 'N' Boots.

The classic, which will be staged by the San Francisco Players Guild, is to be presented to the local youngsters on Saturday, February 22, at the Colma Elementary School and on Sunday, February 23, at Benjamin Franklin Junior High School as a part of the annual project to bring live dramatic productions to children of the elementary school level.

According to Mrs. Conte Gressani, publicity director for the undertaking, Mrs. West feels that this particular type of presentation is meaningful to the youngsters and is the type of cultural experience will be enjoyable and beneficial. For this reason Mrs. Gressani stated, Mrs. West has been a vital part of this annual event since its inception.

Children of the district may still purchase tickets for the play at their schools.

SMART BARGAIN HUNTERS will mark Friday, February 28, as the day to do their shopping at the Shoppers' Special being held from 3 p.m. until 9 p.m. in the Parish Hall of Our Lady of Mercy Church, 1 Elmwood Drive in Daly City.

The specials will be the presale offering of the Annual Westlake Catholic Women's Rummage sale to be held in the National Guard Armory in San Francisco on March 2. Just about everything imaginable will be offered to shoppers at phenomenal prices according to Mrs. Jack Rose, publicity director.

"Mrs. Vern Box, chairman of the rummage sale, has announced many new items as well as used and repaired merchandise will be for sale in the various departments," Mrs. Rose said. Among the things listed are furniture, toys, books, records, and wearing apparel of all types for men, women and children.

For those not able to shop on Friday, the volunteers will again set up shop on Saturday, February 29, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Proceeds of the presale and the general sale on March 2 will go to the Our Lady of Mercy building fund.

PLANS ARE being formulated for two events by members of the Daly City Friends of the Library, according to Mrs. Herbert Weiner, publicity director.

Mrs. Ruth Isaacs, San Francisco radio personality and speaker, is to be the lecturer. She will speak on "The Books that Didn't Make the Best Seller List."

FM radio fan will know Mrs. Isaacs as the charming hostess of "Interviews With the Authors" which is aired on SXSX-FM every Saturday at 1 p.m. and on Tuesday evenings at 8 p.m. Some of this nation's best known writers have been her guests during recent months and her show has become a must among those who wish to be in the know on current literary fashions. Those who frequent the main San Francisco library may have encountered her in the Philosophy, Literature and Religion section, where she is "the lady in charge."

Mrs. Weiner has also announced that it is not too early to sort your books and donate the unwanted ones to the first book sale sponsored by the Friends of the Library. The sale, which will be held on April 18 in the mall of the Westlake Shopping Center, will feature fiction, non-fiction, paper back books and children's stories.

Anyone having material they wish to donate may leave it in any of the local firehouses or they may take books to the library to be held for the sale, Mrs. Weiner said.

Mrs. Lionel Farber is chairman of the sale.

Reservations for the Holy Angels Women Guild's Day of Reflection will close tomorrow, according to Mrs. Sue Sheerin, publicity director.

The observance will be held in the Convent of the Sacred Heart in San Francisco on Sunday from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. The Rev. Daniel Lynch of Holy Angels will be the featured speaker.

Reservations, with luncheon included, are $2.50 and may be arranged by phoning Mrs. Carl Meyer, PL 6-5565.

Newlyweds

MR. AND MRS. RONALD K. JOHNSON (Dore Studio)

Barbara O'Canna and Ronald Johnson Marry

Sunset Lutheran Church in San Francisco was the setting for the wedding of Barbara Lee O'Canna and Ronald Kent Johnson, both of Daly City.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee O'Canna of 54 Crestline Avenue, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Johnson, of 25 Fairway Drive.

The Rev. J. Roger Anderson officiated at an altar decorated with white gladioli, mums and stock.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white bombazine sheath with elbow length sleeves and scoop neckline, accented in re-embroidered Alencon lace.

She wore a single strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

Geraldine Cristoni served as maid of honor, Gloria Morrissey, Georgia Carol and Pamela Sklavos acted as bridesmaids.

Chadwick Reade was the best man and ushers were David Lobanoff, Robert Harris and Vincent Ippolito.

The mother of the bride wore a beige brocade sheath with matching evening coat. She wore a corsage of green cymbidiums.

The groom's mother wore a pale green brocade ensemble. Her corsage was of brown cymbidiums.

After a reception at the Fox Hostess House, the newlyweds flew to Mexico City and Acapulco for a honeymoon.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Westmoor High School. She is employed as a secretary at the Presidio and he is attending Heald's Engineering College in San Francisco.

They will live in Burlingame.

ORT Fashion

Show Planned

The Women's ORT, Northern Peninsula Chapter will hold its spring fashion show, "Portals to Elegance" Wednesday, March 4, at 8 p.m., at the Forest Lodge in San Francisco.

Mrs. Sydney Oakley is general chairman. Reservations may be obtained by calling Mrs. Max Schwarz at MO 1-0124 or Mrs. Morton Dobrow at 761-0268.

Court St. Mary, C.D.A. Outlines Activities

Court St. Mary, Catholic Daughters of America, will meet tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. at Our Lady of Perpetual Help parish hall, for a short session under the direction of Mrs. Maurice Clark, Grand Regent. Members will prepare used sheets for leper bandages and used shirts for hospital gowns by the World Missions group. The social hour will be dispensed with during Lent.

On March 5, under the Social Welfare program, Mrs. Louise Barnard, chairman, both new and used infant clothing and diapers will be assembled into layettes for delivery to the St. Elizabeth's Infant Center in San Francisco.

Anyone having usable infants' clothing, diapers, men's and boys' white shirts, and white sheets that they may wish to put to good use by contributing to the Catholic Daughters for use in these projects, may call either Mrs. Barnard PL 5-6636 or Mrs. Laurence DeFanti, JU 7-7912, World Missions chairman, for further information.

The Catholic Daughters of America Creative Poetry Contest is now under way. Mrs. William Gonzales, chairman for the court, has invited eight elementary and high schools to participate by submitting original work by students.

Winning poems will be sent for state judging by March 15. State winners then go on to national competition.

In previous years Court St. Mary's entries have been awarded prizes on state and national levels.

A public Whist is being planned for the evening of March 19.

Applications for the spring reception of new candidates to the CDA, Court St. Mary, are now being accepted. For information contact Mrs. Edward Denning, extension chairman, WY 2-5360. Initiation ceremonies will take place on April 16.

Y-Indian Guides

To Be Outlined

The Y-Indian Guides program will be explained at a get-acquainted council at 7:30 p.m. today in Abraham Lincoln School at 1267 Southgate Avenue.

The program is nationally sponsored by the YMCA for fathers and sons. Starting age for youngsters is 5 to 7 years. Its purpose is to foster the companionship between father and son.

More information can be obtained by calling the YMCA at TU 5-0460.

COMMENT

Traffic Safety 'Must' in S.S.F.

PARENTS IN the Winston Manor subdivision of South San Francisco are justified in their demand for immediate safety measures to protect school children crossing Junipero Serra Boulevard.

In a little more than one week, two youngsters were struck down and killed while crossing the heavily traveled thoroughfare. Both fatalities occurred during broad daylight—with visibility and road conditions excellent.

And in both instances, the drivers of the death cars were not held culpable.

Both drivers were observing the legal speed limit and driving with what police concluded officially was due caution.

The circumstances point clearly to the fact that this particular section of highway—just north of the King Street intersection—is an unusually hazardous crossing for primary school children.

Usual procedure in planning traffic control devices, pedestrian overpasses and other safety measures is to keep a record of daily traffic flow, number of pedestrians crossing, visibility and other technical data.

In this instance, the death of two boys, 10 and 5 years of age, provides a chapter of grisly statistics that should outweigh many volumes of engineers' reports.

WINSTON MANOR parents, outraged and frightened both at once, are circulating petitions to prevent further slaughter of their children. More than 1300 residents had signed the petitions last week.

Their proposal is that a pedestrian overpass be constructed over the roadway where the two fatalities occurred.

Junipero Serra is now a state highway but will come under the jurisdiction of the City of South San Francisco in a few years when the new Junipero Serra Freeway routing is completed.

City officials express doubt that the state will want to bear the expense of a $100,000 overpass on such a short term basis.

And at a meeting last week, State Highway Officials said Junipero Serra doesn't have enough traffic to qualify for an overpass.

But even if South San Francisco officials are ultimately successful in getting the state to construct an elevated crossing, what about the safety of pedestrians during the weeks, months or even years until this project is completed?

Two youngsters have died under the wheels of automobiles in only an eight-day period.

Regardless of what the state or city does about the overpass, a moral responsibility rests with both agencies to protect the young people crossing this dangerous sector of the highway.

This protection of young lives should start today with whatever safety measures the city and state can separately or jointly offer. Even one day's delay can be infinitely too long as four parents in Winston Manor learned to their grief this month.

The Marquee

A Strange New Movie

Barbara Bladen

A MOVIE with a strange title and even stranger casting will make its appearance on the Peninsula soon. "Dr. Strange-Love or: How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Bomb," can be described—if it can be described at all—in less time than it takes to say the title.

Producer Stanley Kubrick describes the Columbia release as a "nightmare comedy." The plot is based on the suspense novel, "Red Alert," by ex-RAF Flight Lieutenant Peter George. But casting and interpretation have changed it into a sardonic suspense comedy.

The extremely broad satire takes a diagonal crack at some reverent institutions but for the most part is a healthy opportunity for Americans to laugh at themselves.

Sterling Hayden portrays a psychotic American general who triggers an ingenious, "foolproof" and irrevocable scheme, unleashing his wing of B-52 bombers against Russia. The President of the United States (Peter Sellers) divides his protean talents between this role, Dr. Strange-Love, the scientist and an RAF officer, unable to recall the aircraft, is forced to co-operate with the Soviet Premier in a bizarre attempt to save the world.

The dynamic, dramatic actor George C. Scott takes his turn at comedy for a change. Keenan Wynn, comes in with a droll bit of characterization. But the film, for all its technical and theatrical virtues, belongs to a rodeo performer and sometimes cowboy actor.

Slim Pickens, a name familiar to fans of western films and horse show at the Cow Palace, will, in the minds of many, emerge as the star of the non-equine movie.

LOUIS BERT LINDLEY JR. lives with his wife and three children in Thousand Oaks. The son of a Texas rancher, although Slim was born in Kingsberg, Calif., he was a bronco rider for 15 years before Republic studios put him under contract.

"I never had any illusions about acting," he told me at luncheon. "After my first movie in 1950, I figured there was nothing about the job I couldn't handle, the only trick was to learn the lines. It was a darn sight easier than rodeo work and I've been faking it ever since."

But Slim couldn't have known that producer Kubrick had three favorite cowboy stars: Ben Johnson, Jim Davis and himself. It was Slim's appearance in "One Eyed Jacks" for Marlon Brando (who Slim praises very highly and defends staunchly) that put him in the top poke who cussedly pilots the one bomber that gets through the Russian radar circle to drop the atom bombs that will mean total worldwide destruction.

"Funny thing about it was, I was planting alfalfa on my ranch near Fresno and putting in a water pump when my wife yelled to come in and clean up 'cause the studio wanted me to fly to London for a picture. I never dreamed it would be a real actin' role, in a picture without horses. I didn't see the script until I got there."

NOT ALL of the beautiful views in Daly City are of rolling hills, the ocean or sun-splashed subdivisions. Residents of Edgemont Drive, for example, have this view of Westmoor High School, considered by many as one of the most beautiful schools in the county. This is another in a series of views that can be seen from many points in Daly City. The photos commemorate the city's fifty-third anniversary.

North County Notebook

It Will Be Quieter Now

Ron Bates

THINGS WILL undoubtedly quiet down on the Daly City Council, at least for a couple of months, now that Bob St. Clair has gone.

The big burly football star enlivened many a routine meeting during the past year and a half this writer has been covering the Daly City political scene.

St. Clair seems to thrive on controversy, both in his role as a San Francisco 49er and as a councilman. In the council chambers, just as on the football field, he made his presence known with his 6-9 frame and big booming voice.

He was at his best when confronted by an angry complainant who would start blasting away at the council with arguments based primarily on emotion.

When St. Clair had the floor, he kept it until he made his point. He either got the complaining person to concede a point or provide some concrete arguments why the council was in the wrong.

Councilman Frank Pacelli hit it on the head last week when he said: "There is no halfway measure with Bob. He is either for it or against it. If he's for it, get out of his way. If he's against it, back up."

The fact that St. Clair likes a good argument was evident in the comments his fellow councilmen made last week when St. Clair resigned.

The older members of the council were so emphatic about how they would miss his arguing that when it came turn for the newest member, Al Polonsky, to speak, he said: "I'm really sorry now I won't have the pleasure of arguing with you, Bob."

I HEARD a story, repeated to me a couple of times, about an individual who was really laying into the council. He continued his harangue after the meeting in a hallway outside the council chambers. St. Clair stood there and tried to argue with him rationally. Then the guy started getting personal.

St. Clair politely terminated the argument in a diplomatic way with a wry remark to the effect: "If you don't shut up, I'll take your head in between my hands and crush it like an eggshell." One guess what the guy did.

St. Clair's powers of persuasion are not bounded by the confines of Daly City. He played a key role in persuading several legislators in Sacramento to kill the city in its battle to back a bill that would have deleted the Cow Palace from Daly City's annexation of Bayshore City.

City Manager Ed Frank said

shortly afterward, "I could talk to those guys until I was blue in the face and it wouldn't have done any good. But they would listen to Bob and our arguments made sense to them."

A sample of St. Clair's political prestige was his appointment as chairman of the "Athletes for Kennedy" movement in the 1960 presidential campaign. One political observer said that St. Clair could go to the White House to see President Kennedy almost without an appointment.

MANY PEOPLE are wondering why St. Clair moved to Millbrae when he had such an enviable position in Daly City.

When he first announced his move in September, we asked him if he planned to go into politics there. He replied: "I have always been interested in local politics."

There has been speculation that he may seek the board of supervisors' seat held now by Ed MacDonald who is expected to retire soon.

It seems logical that St. Clair would seek a higher political position. In that upward climb, it also seems logical that he would not like to bump heads with his long-time friend and former coach, Joe Verducci, in a campaign for a board of supervisors seat.

With all this talk about Daly City's birth rate, there may be one more reason he moved. St. Clair and his pretty, petite wife, Anne, have five children, three of them born in Daly City. They are expecting a sixth now and that's a nice, even number.

Letters

TO THE EDITOR:

I, for one, protest the bus fare hike from 15 cents to 20 to 25 cents of the Northgate Transit Company.

It is simply not worth even 15 cents, unless the time schedule is improved from 20 minutes to 10 minutes daily between buses—and every 30 minutes Saturdays and Sundays.

I have waited 30 minutes during the week for a five-minute ride to and fro. I waited one hour in waiting for service.

Under prevailing conditions, the fares should be reduced, not raised. We are a growing, thriving community, not a backwoods frontier.

A Perpetual Celebration

Don Miller

CALIFORNIA'S fun-loving, high-living neighbor to the East, the State of Nevada, is observing its 100th birthday as a member of the Union this year.

The celebration, naturally, will go on all year but judging from the way it's been going so far, there really won't be much of a difference in the usual order of things.

That is to say, Nevada is perpetually in a state of celebration and to step up an already frantic casino tempo would only spur a healthy boost in aspirin sales.

Although they realize it's difficult to become more fun-loving—even though a 100th birthday is the occasion—Nevada's officialdom has gone ahead with a number of gimmicks that will provide a centennial air out in the sagebrush and in among the crap tables.

For instance, the United States Mint will turn out a raft of silver medals, proclaiming that Nevada has somehow gambled its way to the century mark.

A limited number of these will be produced in sterling silver and we hear that this blue-ribbon production long ago was over-subscribed.

Sale of the remainder of the medals in ordinary silver—if any kind of silver can be ordinary—will be limited to Nevada residents only. And the word among the slot machine crowd is that these will be as scarce as a $25,000 Keno jackpot before the year is out.

BUT LET'S get back to the celebrating. Perhaps the primary reason why Nevada can not be expected to kick up its heels very high this year is that the vast majority of folk who are manufacturing hilarity throughout the year in the casino state aren't Nevadans.

They're Californians, as you know, and since Californians can get overly pro-California at times, you really can't expect them to hoot and holler very loudly about another state's birthday.

In fact, judging from the brickbats Governor Brown has been tossing at Governor Sawyer and company about the commercialization of the Lake Tahoe area, it wouldn't surprise us if diplomatic relations between Sacramento and Carson City were severed one of these days.

We hope that won't happen, of course, because then those itchy-fingered roulette addicts will have to cease streaming east through Donner every weekend and Nevada's birthday party will have fewer participants than paying customers at a skunk race.

Peninsula Panorama

The Pretenses Are Innocent

George Whitesell

THERE ARE A LOT of false pretenses on the Peninsula, nearly all of them completely innocent and unintentional.

This was called to our attention by a lady who suddenly realized that she had a linen closet, well-lined, but entirely without any linen.

"Who," she said, "can afford real linens? The last of my grandmother's real linen sheets was worn out four years ago and the only genuine linen I have in the house is a dozen napkins over 40 years old. I keep these specially packed away and not in the linen closet—I am thinking of putting them in our safety deposit box."

Which led us to the reflection that a great many Peninsulans have "Hurricane Lamps" although the likelihood of a hurricane here is almost nil.

A lot of us have Dutch doors that never had anything remotely to do with a Dutchman.

In fact, our Peninsula architects have provided us with a number of anomalies such as bay windows completely devoid of a view of the bay and picture windows without pictures deserving of the name.

They have given us "bottle glass" doors that never knew a bottle and shutters that are firmly anchored to the house and will never be used as shutters.

And, we fear, they have outfitted many a quiet family with a "rumpus room" in which no one will ever "raise a rumpus."

WE CAN'T BLAME the architects for it, but many a Peninsula home has "guest rooms" that have never housed a guest—just relatives or the kids.

We also have "front rooms" that face the rear of the house.

Not to mention sewing rooms that have never kept anyone in stitches.

Some of our more palatial homes have drawing rooms in which nothing was ever drawn except the wrong card to a busted flush.

NOW WE CAN hear that staunch anti-casino crowd yelling that closing the border would be one of the most beneficial acts that could happen to California.

Maybe so, maybe not—but one thing we're sure of: such a drastic move would deprive Californians of not only the opportunity to out-flank the blackjack dealer but it would deprive them of an activity many consider to be infinitely more fun than gambling.

That's watching those who gamble—a pastime we heartily—and at times, hysterically—endorse.

There's something about a sweet, little old lady, planted firmly at the helm of three slot machines and pumping silver into them faster than any mint could ever grind the change out, that absolutely defies adequate description.

Nor is it easy to accurately describe the look of awe on the faces of some players around a crap table when a tall man with a fat wallet strides up, casually tosses out four century notes, loses all of the chips he receives in a half dozen rolls of the dice, even more casually tosses out three more $100 bills, loses again in even less rattling of the bones and then with a nonchalant shrug, suffles away.

ONE OF THE most rib-tickling vignettes of the gambling scene we've ever sat in on occurred a couple of weeks ago in one of the bigger Reno houses during a Keno game.

Keno, for those of you who haven't played this maddening, frustrating little game, is a one-sided contest in which you're invited beforehand to try and pick so many numbers out of a couple of dozen that are announced later.

The numbers that were being called in this game were being flashed on a scoreboard in one of the casino's restaurants. At the counter sat a gentleman of the tables, clutching a Keno ticket in his left hand and a piece of pie impaled on a fork in the other.

He would direct the fork toward his mouth, pause halfway as a Keno number was flashed, lower the fork while he checked his ticket, resume the fork-to-mouth journey, only to pause again en route when another Keno number lit up.

This elevator pie business went on for almost three minutes until all the numbers had been called. Then the gentleman, with an anguished look, left the counter to buy another Keno ticket.

What about that piece of pie? Yep, you guessed it. It never did make the grade.

Actually drawing rooms were originally "withdrawing rooms" to which Edwardian ladies withdrew while their husbands punished the Port wine and told stories unsuited for feminine ears.

This is a custom which has been abandoned in these parts.

Our Peninsula ladies are not about to withdraw when things are just getting interesting around the dining table.

These phony names start right at the entrance to the house. Most of our doorbells are chimes and not bells at all.

DECORATORS HAVE had their hand in this. They have afflicted us with "cobblers' benches" on which no one admissible to polite society would ever lay a shoe.

They have hung "Lavabos" on our walls and filled them with flowers. Anyone who used them to wash his hands, which is what they were intended for, would be summarily thrown out in the street—even if he was a member of the family.

Some of them have allowed the use of camel saddles that never saw a camel, and "Captain's Chairs" that never held a Captain—or as much as a Second Lieutenant.

But we cannot blame decorators for the "Hope Chests" that are bereft of hope.

THE LIST IS endless. We have cookie jars that don't hold so much as a crumb. We have bookshelves without books and "what-nots" without what-not.

We have cupboards without cups, but with a fine selection of glasses.

And since the advent of the garbage disposal, we have literally thousands of garbage cans without garbage.

Not least, nor last, is an extraordinary fact to which countless Peninsula husbands can testify—there are dog houses in homes where no canine ever set foot.

Hope Church Sets Services In Mid-Week

Midweek vesper services will be held at Hope Lutheran Church, in Daly City, during Lent, with the first service at 7:30 p.m., today.

During these services, a series of sermons will be delivered with the over-all theme, "See What It Cost to Redeem You." Pastor Armin H. Polster has announced. Theme of the first sermon will be "Christ's Total Submission."

Special music will be provided by the Hope Lutheran Choir under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Edler for several of these services. At today's service, the concluding chorale from "The Passion According to St. John," by Bach, will be sung by the choir. This chorale expresses the significance and relevance of Christ's passion in this season of Lent.

Sisterhood Maps Purim Festival

Sisterhood members of Congregation B'nai Israel are busy adding the final touches to the annual Purim Carnival to be held Sunday at noon at 67 Los Banos Avenue.

Mrs. Gary Papellbaum, chairman, says there will be games for the children, a variety of new merchandise including canned goods at moderate prices and Israeli gift items.

The gourmet department will feature such delicacies as homemade gefilte fish, stuffed cabbage, blintzes, hamantaschen, honey cakes and many others for lunch or to take out. The public is invited and there is no admission charge.

The next regular sisterhood membership meeting is Monday at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Milton Reynard, 18 Morningside Street, Daly City. Anyone who is interested in the sisterhood is welcome to attend.

Plan Bethel Service

In observance of the 13th Annual Women's Missionary Council Day, the ladies of Bethel Church of Pacifica will present a special program at the morning worship hour, 11 a.m., Sunday.

"Now is the Time!", the theme of the service, will be emphasized by visual demonstration and special music. The local group is one of more than 6,000 throughout the nation and other countries who will join in similar services.

The Women's Missionary Council is active in five areas of service, home and foreign missions, benevolence, institutional projects, district and local community needs.

Mrs. Muriel Jean Ingham is president of the local group.

Rev. Hansen Has Series

Continuing on the Lenten services theme, "The Secret of Radiant Life," Pastor Kenneth Hansen, Westlake Lutheran Church, has chosen for his second meditation, "What Is This Inner Unrest?"

The Wednesday evening services start at 7:15 p.m. followed by a discussion group which will deal with the question of how to become a radiant person. The subject of the discussion will be, "How to Live in the Bible."

The Christian Couples' Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the church on Sunday. Hosts for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. John Hodgskiss and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gilbertson.

Divine Services

AND CHURCH ACTIVITIES OF DALY CITY, COLMA, PACIFICA AND SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

Rabbi Shore Sets Topic

Rabbi Solomon Shore's sermon for Friday night at B'nai Israel will be "Jewish Life in America During the Days of George Washington." Services begin at 8:30 p.m. at 67 Los Banos Avenue, Daly City.

In observance of the Purim holiday, the Megillah, which is the story of Esther, will be read on Wednesday evening, February 25, at 8 p.m. On Sunday, February 23, children will participate in a Purim masquerade. Prizes will be awarded for the best costume in each grade.

Rabbi Shore will be guest speaker at St. Martin's Episcopal Church, 777 Southgate Avenue, Daly City, at 10 a.m., on Sunday.

Purim Dance Is Mapped

The Temple Judea single adult group will hold a Purim Dance Saturday evening, at the Fairmont Hotel in the Hunt Room.

"No host" cocktails will be served from 8 to 9 p.m. There will be dancing to the music of the Don Carlo Jazz Trio from 9 p.m. to midnight. A $2 donation per person will be requested at the door.

Westside Baptist Church To Hear Mission Speaker

Reverend Dale Bjork, administrative assistant of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Baptist General Conference, will be the guest speaker at the Sunday morning worship hour at Westside Baptist Church in South San Francisco.

Reverend and Mrs. Bjork were two of the first appointees under the board in 1946 and were assigned to China, where they served from 1946 to 1950. The mission station was in Tsingtao. They left when the Communists took over the Chinese mainland.

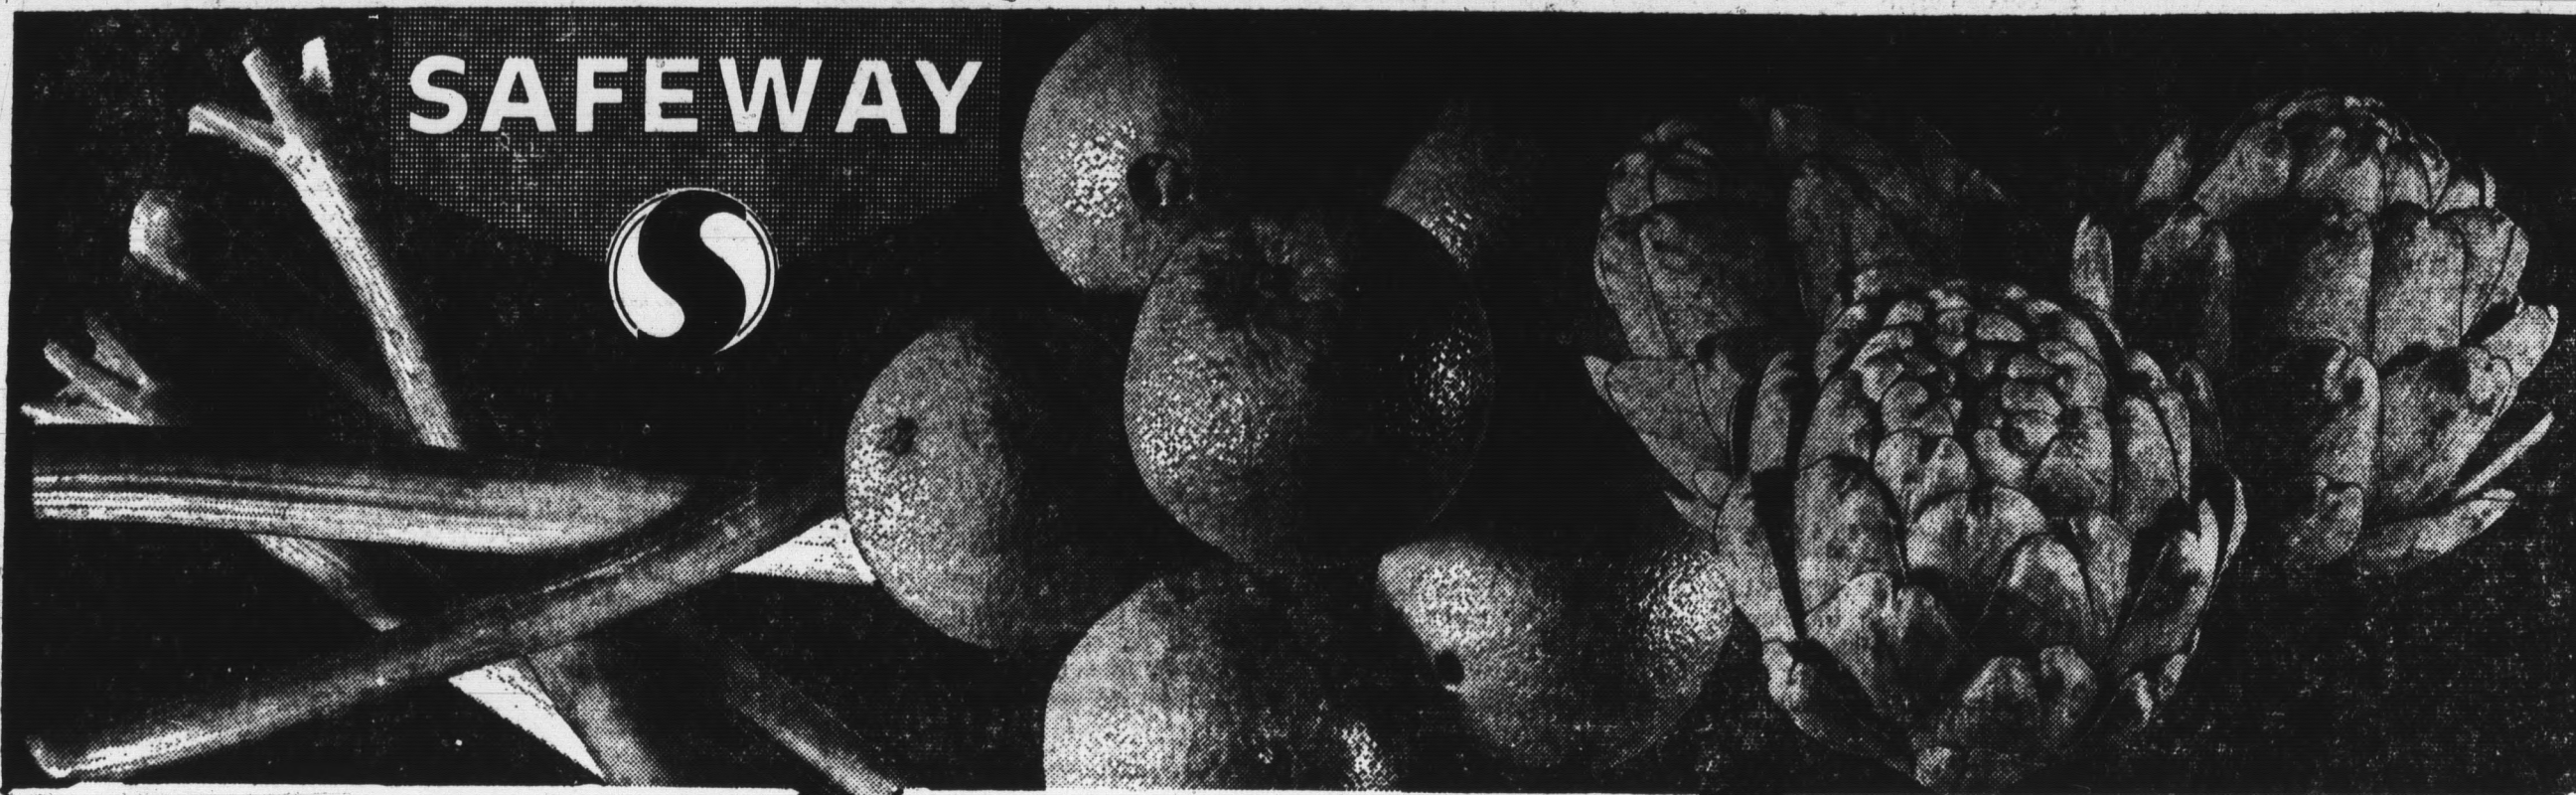

After returning to America, and engaging in deputation work, the Bjorks were reassigned to Japan. They established a self-supporting church in one of the remote corners of the country. Illness forced the Bjorks' return. In 1963 Reverend Bjork was named to his administrative assistant post.

A missionary film "Spotlighting the North Bank," depicting the work of the Baptist General Conference in Assam, will be shown at the 7 p.m. gospel service.

Sunday School Superintendent Alton Swedberg will begin a teachers' training course, "The Story of Christianity." The course will run for the next six to eight weeks.

Blue Letter Days closes this week with the class with the highest attendance for the past eight weeks receiving an award.

State Must Act When No Will Is Filed

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor, Better Business
Bureau's "Barometer"

EVERY DAY, probate courts handle the estates of astute businessmen and women who either had balked at the idea of making a will or who had just not taken the time.

The great tragedy is that a great number of these people were well aware that their procrastination in drawing up a will might result in expense and possible grief for their heirs.

Failure to make a will results in the state distributing an estate according to the "Law of Succession," which is based on average conditions.

The law makes no distinction as to the possible needs of their heirs and makes no provision for reserve money for a possible emergency period. It contains no provision for the continuance of a business.

The estate of a resident of California, where all property acquired during marriage while a resident of that state is community property, (excluding property received as a gift or inheritance and real property outside of California) will go to the surviving spouse and not to the children.

There are nine possible ways non-community property can be divided in California:

1. At death of husband or wife, with no descendants, all property goes to surviving spouse.
2. At death of husband or wife with one surviving child, the surviving spouse receives one-half and the child one-half. Descendants of a deceased child receive the deceased child's share.
3. At the death of a wife or husband and no descendants but a father and mother, one-fourth goes to each parent. If only one parent survives, one-half goes to the surviving parent.
4. At the death of a widow or widower or a single person, with no descendants, parents, brothers, sisters or their descendants, all property goes to next of kin.
5. At death of husband or wife with two or more surviving children, one-third goes to surviving spouse and two-thirds is divided among the children. Descendants of the deceased child or children take deceased share.
6. At death of a widow or widower or single person with parents but no descendants, one-half goes to the father and one-half goes to the mother. All property goes to a surviving parent.
7. At death of widow or widower or single person and no descendants but brothers and sisters, all property goes to brothers and sisters. The descendants of a deceased brother or sister take the parents' share.
8. If the deceased leaves only brothers and sisters and no parents or descendants, one-half goes to wife or husband and one-half to brothers and sisters. Descendants of deceased brothers or sisters take share of parents.
9. The estate of a widow or widower, where there is one child or more, is divided equally among the children.

The State Legislature will not be substituted for your wishes in the distribution of your estate, the Better Business Bureau advises you to consult an attorney when drawing up a will.

Do not rely upon do-it-yourself kits, comprised of will forms and a booklet concerning wills, which usually sells for around $1.

The Federal Trade Commission has already ruled upon several will planning companies and has issued orders to them to stop the misrepresentation that their printed will form gives the purchaser sufficient legal knowledge to execute a will.

TO MAKE sure the wishes of Teenager Asks . . .

By JOE BAVARESCO

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:

I am 16 years old and the friends I have in school are all families who are pretty well off. They invite me to their homes, but I am ashamed to invite them to mine, because we are poor. We are not starving but my dad doesn't make much money so our house isn't much. I am running out of excuses, when my buddies ask to come by and pick me up or something. What shall I do or say?

T. L.

Dear T. L.:

Man, you are off base. There sure is something wrong with your values. What gives you the right to judge your father and what he provides? How can you be ashamed of a man who is providing the best way he can? If anybody should be ashamed it's your parents, they should be ashamed of you and your feeling of superiority.

First of all, if these guys are your friends, they will like you for you, not where you come from or what your home looks like.

Secondly, it's not important where you live but how you live, and you need help in how to live. As you go through life many things will stay in your mind. Not long ago I met a nice guy named Joe Verducci, and he told me, "Never make excuses," because I was guilty of this same thing. That stayed with me, and believe me it works.

People, I have found, don't like excuses. It is not only in poor taste but it shows weakness on your part. You should invite them over and get it off your mind, you will feel better and I'm sure that your friends wouldn't even pay any attention to these silly things you are worried about.

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:

I will be graduating from high school this June and my buddy's father is putting him through college and my dad tells me he will not put me through. I feel this is unfair to me. I think he should help me out, after all, I'm not experienced enough to get a good job to put me through. Could you please tell him and other parents how tough it is and that they should help us guys get our start?

College or bust.

Dear College or bust:

No, I will not. It's time you realized the value of a dollar as well as the value of an education. If you want a college education bad enough do it yourself. You will appreciate it more and study harder.

Your father is a wise man. He sees more than you do. As for your lack of experience, that's hogwash. You can wash dishes or scrub floors, or do you feel you are above that? Too many kids feel the same as you do and that is why, I feel, that so many drop out of college.

Anything that is worthwhile does not come easy. You have to work for it. It is not handed to you on a silver platter. I agree with your dad. Work your way through, believe me when I say, in years to come you will be very glad. Now you are bitter for it, later you'll be better for it.

Crowds Enjoy

Irish Songs

The Irish are in for a happy surprise when visiting Luz Garcia's Sinaloa. Especially during the floor show performance of Raul Martinez, the Latin vocal great who sings the songs of Old Mexico, then switches to "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" with a community singing bit that delights the crowds.

If business keeps on going up and up at Bruno Scatena's Joe's of Westlake, Bruno will have to add a second deck to his restaurant. Pianobar entertainment also enhances the evening's restaurant scene.

One has to hand it to Francis Blain, one of the star comedians at Finocchio's in San Francisco, for an amazing ability to keep audiences roaring with laughter every minute he's onstage. He accomplishes this by his clever take-off on strip-teasers of the era of the Gay 90s.

Someone told Lew Lehr, an avid golf nut, that Magellan had gone around the world in 1521. Lew quipped, "Not bad when you consider the distance."

Enrico Romano, Pacifica restaurateur, has noticed that nowadays girls seem to prefer men who are the outdoor type. His proof is the crowds that patronize the drive-in theaters.

The Brentwood Lodge is one of the smartest places to dine. Its decor, done in Victorian, with a huge fireplace in the cocktail lounge makes dining very enjoyable. The important factor in their success is the very fine food served at reasonable prices.

"Standing room only" is the verdict on the Villa Chartier's new Lenten Seafood Menu. Seafood features every day by famed chef Jerry Engelhaupt and a complete seafood menu on Fridays, in addition to the regular menu. Such specialties as Seafood Newburg on a crisp patty shell, broiled fresh Sea Bass, Mahi-Mahi, Hawaiian style and many others are making an appetite hit.

The welcome sign is always out at Barney's Casino, Lake Tahoe (South Shore), but they hardly expected to see the likes of two recent visitors. A young couple from California, just married, arrived in a car still decorated with crepe paper. They entered the club, and immediately started playing the slot machines.

Spend a 'Buck' and You Receive a 'Toy Buck'
FOSTER'S ORIGINAL PANCAKE AND CHICKEN HOUSE is now featuring an "Original" new idea which should please the entire family. They are now giving away "Toy Money" in the form of a "buck" coupon which is redeemable only for children's toys now on display at the restaurant. Whether your visit is for breakfast, luncheon, or dinner, for each "buck" you spend you will receive a toy "buck." This is a fun idea that will delight the kiddies. Seems some folks are under the impression that Foster's Original Pancake and Chicken House serves only pancakes and chicken. Not so. Along with these tastings, luncheon is served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily, except Sunday; a dinner menu featuring roast turkey, beef pot roast, and Farm Fried Chicken (full course) from $2 to $2.50; children under 12, $1.25. For a home family treat, a bucket of chicken for $3.90 is ample service for a family of five. "Take out" is a specialty of the house - whether it's a box lunch for one or a banquet for 300. Enjoy a complimentary cup of coffee while waiting for your take-out orders. Lots of parking space.

TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT FOR "FISH FRY" AT KEITH'S
popular Burlingame restaurant. The regular menu is also in effect. Bear in mind: Keith's new home delivery policy is a natural for an evening's "stove break." Home-made pies that are the "very end" complete the dining picture. There's no doubt about this being a Happy New Year for Lou Rocca, Jr. His Rocca's restaurant reservation list for February is enough to make anyone happy. "The Swim," new dance craze as illustrated by "Swim" authority Judy Mac at the Galaxie on SF's Broadway, has been creating a furore. The Galaxie has been "splashing" with "swim" fans. The music of Nooney Rickett Four (they act and sing like the famous Beatles from England) has the "swimmers" "flipping". United Parcel Service, headed Keith Williamson by Jack Martin, united for a luncheon party at Phil Lehr's Steakery.

VINCE LICATA, the Peninsula's answer to the sea food situation, opened his Vince's Seafood Depot, located at 1520 South El Camino Real, in a newly constructed building on the "Licata restaurant acres." He offers the finest selection in take-home products - from the shelves, to the crab pots. . . . Dancing continues to be one of the big weekend draws at the Princeton Inn. Al Dote and The Kingmen do the bandstanding. . . . Fourteen International restaurants under one roof is the casual setting at the Hillsdale Farmers Market. Food of all nations await your taste buds. . . . Pancho's fine Mexican restaurant in Redwood City has come up with an exciting new "Busy Day" idea for people whose time is at a premium. Now you can buy complete Mexican gourmet dinners at Pancho's, for your freezer. Then, when a busy day leaves you too tired to go out for dinner - and too busy to fix dinner - just reach in the freezer for a festive south-of-the-border feast, that can be ready in minutes. Pancho's is open seven days a week. So stock up for your "Busy Day" now. . . .

Z. L. LOO, owner of the Charm Garden Restaurant and the Merchant Prince brand salad dressing, Key Sauce and Soy Sauce Hong Kong distributor (products of his Charm Garden restaurant), is presenting a very inviting Lenten menu which includes a vegetable dish and various sea food selections. . . . Ron Giannotti can rightly be proud of his Surf House chef, Lou Di Marzo, who has the culinary know how to prepare one of the best Italian dinners you'll ever taste. The Surf House menu also excels in sea food dishes. Decor and furnishings as modern as a jet; a relaxed atmosphere for leisure dining and cocktail chatting. . . . The San Mateo Tip Top Restaurant is open 24 hours a day and invites your next visit when in the neighborhood of 255 B Street (next to the Bank of America Building). . . . Saturday and Sunday treat at Bertolucci's: Roast prime rib of Eastern beef. . . . Frank Torres Montara Beach Hotel is once again featuring outstanding Peruvian and American dinners. Open Wednesday through Sunday. . . .

Moar's Cafeteria
Widely Known
Moar's is one of the most widely known cafeteria names in the Bay Area, as well as in the Peninsula. The local site, situated at 70 Hillsdale Plaza in the Hillsdale Shopping Center, is convenient for day and evening shoppers. Select the dishes of your fancy - from salads to desserts. Complete dinners and a la carte. The tempting chicken dinner includes whipped snowflake potatoes, country-style chicken gravy, hot biscuits with butter and honey, choice of desserts, tea or coffee. This mouth-watering dinner tabs out for just $2 and is served from 4 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. weekdays, noon to 8:30 p.m. on Sundays. Child's plate, $1. Acres of free parking space.

Dine out tip at any of Uncle John's Pancake Houses: Steak 'n' eggs as you like 'em. Either buttermilk or crispy potato pancakes, an added treat. . . . Nick Finocchio's New Tivoli features a seven course Italian dinner for just $2. Accommodations for banquets (five rooms from which to choose), 15 to 300 persons. . . . Whenever a big golf event is on tap in the Bay Area, you're sure to find the "swingers" dining at Nick Gust's in Pacifica. Nick, who shoots in the 70's, knows most of the name pros. . . . Just finished reading "Song of America," a grand book by George Mardikian, owner of Omar Khayyam's restaurant. This is the true story of an Armenian immigrant and the inspiring meaning he found in the American way of life. If your local book store is out of copies, you'll find them available at Omar Khayyam's.

Park Sought In Pacifica Development

"I hope they don't think we're greedy asking for another park site when they've already given us the dump," a Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Commissioner said.

He was commenting on a request from the commission to the City Council that a ten-acre flat-land park be acquired in the proposed new Oddstad 1500-home development, Park Pacifica.

Recently, Oddstad Homes donated a 35-acre dump site to the city for use as a park when filling operations are completed in seven to ten years. The dump is operated by the Coastside Scavenger Company on a lease basis.

Commission Chairman Sheila Hyman concurred that "we are most grateful to have this land given" but said the commission felt a park and especially one on level ground suitable for playgrounds and playing fields, would be needed at an earlier date.

The Park, Beach and Recreation Commission has been concerned with the eventual loss of White Field in Linda Mar, which is used extensively for Little League and other sports.

The field belongs to the Pillar of Fire Church, which plans to develop the land for additions to its church and school.

In a request presented to the City Council, commissioners asked for a parking site acceptable to the commission, preferably in a proposed buffer zone between Saddleton, local riding stables, and the new Park Pacifica homes.

In backing up their request, the commissioners pointed out that the entire 290 acres, located east of Linda Mar, had been zoned for commercial recreation.

Pee Wee Golf Course, Hall Planned in S.S.F.

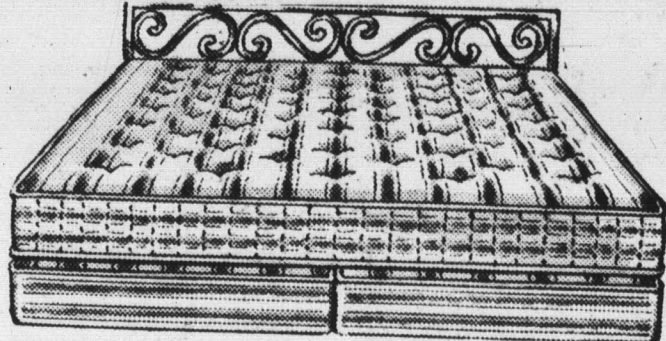

A banquet hall and pee-wee golf course will be built on Mission Road in South San Francisco, according to plans approved last week by the city's Planning Commission.

Robert Smith and Joseph Welch plan a pro shop, cafe, and bar to go with the golfing facility opposite Oak Avenue. The planners also approved a larger sign for International Inn.

A public hearing was set Monday for American Guild Homes' request to rezone Westborough Three from an unclassified to a residential district.

MEATLESS CASSEROLE of Milk-and-Honey Limas is substantial inexpensive Lenten fare. A high-protein dish in which honey and ginger give a sweet, spicy tang to the beans. Recipe in our columns today.

Milk and Honey Lima Casserole

In many homes during the Lenten season the spotlight will swing to vegetable and other meatless casseroles like this protein-rich Milk-and-Honey Casserole. The smooth nutritious cream sauce is flavored with honey and ginger to give a sweet, spicy tang to the beans. An excellent way to

Delightful Punch With A Wallop

This delightfully flavored punch packs a wallop! Assorted Spreads and Dips with a Variety of Cracker and Chips

Punch on the Rocks
Miniature Danish Pastries
PUNCH ON THE ROCKS
Juice of 12 lemons, strained
Juice of 4 oranges, strained
8 ounces (1 cup) grenadine
8 ounces (1 cup) curacao
2 Fifths (2 quarts) cognac
Superfine granulated sugar
1 large bottle (about 1 quart) club soda

Stor together the lemon juice, orange juice, grenadine, curacao and cognac. Stir in sugar to taste—adding it a tablespoon at a time because very little will be needed—until dissolved. Add club soda and stir gently. Serve over ice cubes in punch cups or small glasses. Makes about 4-½ quarts. When poured over the ice, the punch will have a rosier color than when it is first prepared.

MODERN HASTY PUDDING
2 cups milk
½ cup enriched cornmeal
¼ cup dark brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated

Scald 1-½ cups of the milk in a heavy saucepan over low heat. Mix the cornmeal with the remaining ½ cup milk. Stirring constantly, gradually add to scalded milk. Add sugar and salt; cook about 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Gradually stir a little of the hot mixture into the well-beaten egg yolks, then stir back into rest of hot mixture. Cook and stir over low heat for 2 to 3 minutes. Cool slightly; fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Spoon into sherbet glasses; chill. Nice served with a dollop of sweetened whipped cream and a few toasted almonds. Makes 5 servings.

Glamorize beans... by browning four ounces link sausage in saucepan. Stir in two 1-pound cans pork and beans with tomato sauce and ½ cup chopped cooked apricots. Heat. Makes 6 servings.

For an attractive and somewhat different salad, marinate in French dressing sliced ripe tomatoes, sliced green onions and ripe olives, sliced. Chill well. Drain and serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

"eat" part of the recommended daily quota of milk. Recipe makes 8 servings.

1 1-pound package dried lima beans (about 2½ cups)
¾ cup (½ stick) butter
¼ cup flour
¼ teaspoon ginger
1½ teaspoons salt
2 cups milk
½ cup honey (or unsulphured molasses)
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Soak beans overnight or for several hours in the cold water. Drain and cook as package directs until tender. Drain well. Pour them into a buttered 2-quart casserole. Melt butter in a small saucepan. Stir in flour, ginger and salt. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly until sauce is smooth and thickened. Remove from heat and blend in honey or molasses. Pour over lima beans. Toss together crumbs and melted butter. Sprinkle crumbs and parsley over lima beans. Bake, uncovered, in a moderate, 375 degree, oven for 20 minutes or until bubbling hot and crumbs are browned.

SCALLOPS AND MUSHROOMS in a creamy, wine-flavored sauce are baked and served in individual scallop shells.

Cooking Scallops The French Way

Interest in French cuisine en—about 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings. goes on and on. Now we're asked how to prepare French-style scallops and mushrooms, the dish that is rich and creamy, and served in scallop shells.

For the sauce some good French cooks use dry white vermouth instead of the usual white wine, and this we follow here. But if you have a bottle of dry white wine on hand that is to be opened, you may of course want to use it.

This is a rich dish. Crusty French bread, a cooked green vegetable, and a tossed salad are the only accompaniments needed.

FRENCH-STYLE SCALLOPS AND MUSHROOMS

- 1 pound medium-small mushrooms
- 5 tablespoons butter
- 1 pound sea scallops, thawed if frozen
- 1/4 cup dry white vermouth
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon white pepper
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup light cream

Buttered soft bread crumbs. Wipe or wash mushrooms clean, and dry; slice medium thin. If stems are long their ends may be sliced separately into rounds. In a 10-inch skillet heat 2 tablespoons of the butter; add mushrooms and cook rapidly and briefly so as not to gather juices; reserve.

Wipe scallops with a damp cloth. Turn into a saucepan with the vermouth, water, bay leaf, salt and pepper. Bring just to the boiling point and simmer until just opaque through—five minutes or longer; do not overcook or scallops will toughen. Drain and reserve 1 cup of the broth. Quarter each scallop (chunk-style) and reserve.

In the clean saucepan over low heat melt the remaining 3 tablespoons butter; stir in the flour. Add the reserved 1 cup scallop broth and the cream; cook and stir constantly over low heat until thickened. Add the sauteed mushrooms and cooked quartered scallops. Spoon into 6 scallop or other baking shells; sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until bubbling hot and crumbs are gold-

Note: To prepare the buttered soft bread crumbs, remove the crusts from 3 slices of firm-type white bread and crumb; mix with a tablespoon or two of melted butter.

Grandpa Would Like These Cookies

When Grandpa comes to visit, he might like these old-fashioned cookies. Good for dunking!

Deviled Ham and Egg Sandwiches

Oldtime Oatmeal Cookies Tea

OLDTIME OATME COOKIES

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1/4 teaspoon each cinnamon and cloves
- 1 cup regular (not quick cooking) rolled oats
- 1/2 cup each lard and butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 large egg
- 5 teaspoons milk
- 1/4 cup each finely cut dates and halved raisins

Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and cloves; stir in the rolled oats. Cream the lard, butter and sugar; beat in eggs thoroughly. Stir in the sifted ingredients, milk, dates and raisins. Drop level tablespoonfuls, about 2 inches apart, onto a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 8 to 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove with spatula to wire rack to cool. Store in tightly covered container. Makes about 2 1/2 dozen.

NOTE: Rinse raisins in hot water and drain before cutting.

An Orange And Coconut Cake Recipe

Grace your Sunday dinner with an orange coconut cake.

Roast Leg of Lamb Baked Potatoes Creamed Spinach

Orange Coconut Cake Beverage

ORANGE-COCONUT CAKE

- 3 cups sifted flour
- 3 cups baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup shortening
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 2 large egg yolks
- 3 whole large eggs
- 1 cup fresh orange juice
- Fluffy White Frosting
- 1 cup shredded fresh or canned flaked coconut

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening, sugar, orange and lemon rind. Beat in egg yolks and whole eggs, one at a time. Add flour mixture alternately with orange juice. Turn into 2 well-greased, lightly floured 9 by 9 by 2-inch cake pans. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 30 to 35 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Place cake in pans on wire rack for 10 minutes. Turn out and cool. Spread Fluffy White Frosting over one layer. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup coconut. Top with remaining cake layer and frost top and sides with remaining frosting. Sprinkle rest of coconut on the top.

Fresh milk is used by 97 percent of all U. S. families, according to a national survey by Ford Sammis and company, marketing economists.

Try Golden Sauce With The Broccoli

Serve broccoli with golden sauce for Sunday dinner.

BROCCOLI WITH GOLDEN SAUCE

- 1 bunch broccoli, 1 1/2 pounds
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1-teaspoon flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon white pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 egg yolks
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cook broccoli stalks and keep warm. Melt butter in a heavy saucepan (about 1 quart) over low heat. Remove from heat. Stir in well the flour, salt, white pepper and dry mustard. Beat egg yolks slightly; add milk and heat enough to combine. Stir all at once into flour mixture. Cook and stir constantly over very low heat until slightly thickened and mixture will coat a silver spoon (as in custard); do not allow to boil. Stir in lemon juice off heat and pour over broccoli. Makes 4 servings.
